THE ROYAL CANADIANS ARE PRETTY MUCH OF A CLOSED CORPORATION . . GUY IS ONE OF FOUR BROTHERS IN THE BAND (CARMEN, FIRST SAX; VICTOR, BARITONE SAX; LEIBERT, TRUMPET) . . Sealing the stem. Metal jaws firmly squeeze the molten glass around the wires, thus fusing the parts together in an air-tight seal.

Spraying cathodes. A cathode whose coating varies in weight by more than one sixteen-thousandth of an ounce is rejected.

Assembling the "mount" — very delicate and painstaking work. A grid wire one one-thousandth of an inch out of line makes a tube rejectable.

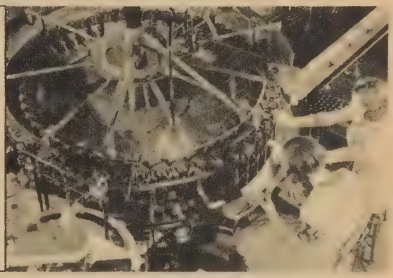
The Sealex machine seals and evacuates the tube. A tube showing a pressure inside the bulb of one forty-millionth the pressure of the air we breathe is rejected.

The basing machine. Basing is an art in itself. Judicious control of the baking heat is an absolute requirement.



One of the thirty-five "perfection tests" to which every Cunningham Radio Tube is subjected. If the tests say it's good, you know it's good.
